THRIVE

News and Trends from Thrive

HEY THRIVERS!!!

Imagine crushing your AM workout, then fueling up with a frosty Surge IV that tastes like vacation in a bottle, all while your snacks stay chill in The Anchor. Chaos? Conquered. That's the Thrive magic we're brewing. Welcome to our kickoff newsletter, your playbook for wellness wins that actually deliver. We're blending gut vibes, trends, team triumphs, and event energy with a spotlight on our gear that's got your back (and your bottle). Let's swap "hangry" for "healthy."
Ready to level up? Join Thrive and let's roll!

WHO WE ARE

Here at Thrive, we simplify wellness and guide busy high school and college students toward a healthier lifestyle. It is our goal to reorient young adults' mindsets around nutrition, specifically supplements, vitamins, and protein. Everything that you fuel your body with can have all of these amazing benefits. We are trying to steer people away from the short term fix of caffeine, the 75 hard, or juice cleanses. At Thrive, we place priority on nourishing your body with the good stuff and are in it for the long haul!

But how?

Thrive helps students worldwide prioritize their wellness by providing evidence-based training, tools, and resources that support emotional health, social skills, and mental well-being, enabling effective learning and personal development.

INDUSTRY TRENDS 📈

Most companies in the VEI world are not doing things similar to Thrive. Some companies have similar ideas with the protein powders and healthy liquid IVs, but we are one of the only companies with our own water bottle designed for the products we offer. Wellness trends are increasingly growing each year, often with a new facade. At Thrive, we are here to be the wellness that works -- not just a year long facade like most other companies.

MARKET NEWS

Eternal Water's New 800mL Bottle Launch
