THRIVE

News and Trends from Thrive

HEY THRIVERS!!!

Imagine crushing your AM workout, then fueling up with a frosty Surge IV that tastes like vacation in a bottle, all while your snacks stay chill in The Anchor. Chaos? Conquered. That's the Thrive magic we're brewing. Welcome to our kickoff newsletter, your playbook for wellness wins that actually deliver. We're blending gut vibes, trends, team triumphs, and event energy with a spotlight on our gear that's got your back (and your bottle). Let's swap "hangry" for "healthy."
Ready to level up? Join Thrive and let's roll!

WHO WE ARE

Here at Thrive, we simplify wellness and guide busy high school and college students toward a healthier lifestyle. It is our goal to reorient young adults' mindsets around nutrition, specifically supplements, vitamins, and protein. Everything that you fuel your body with can have all of these amazing benefits. We are trying to steer people away from the short term fix of caffeine, the 75 hard, or juice cleanses. At Thrive, we place priority on nourishing your body with the good stuff and are in it for the long haul!

But how?

Thrive helps students worldwide prioritize their wellness by providing evidence-based training, tools, and resources that support emotional health, social skills, and mental well-being, enabling effective learning and personal development.

INDUSTRY TRENDS 📈

Most companies in the VEI world are not doing things similar to Thrive. Some companies have similar ideas with the protein powders and healthy liquid IVs, but we are one of the only companies with our own water bottle designed for the products we offer. Wellness trends are increasingly growing each year, often with a new facade. At Thrive, we are here to be the wellness that works -- not just a year long facade like most other companies.

MARKET NEWS

Eternal Water's New 800mL Bottle Launch

- Eternal Water launched its new 800mL bottle at the NACS 2025 Show as a convenient option for active consumers, reflecting over 20% year-over-year sales growth and its position as the No. 2 alkaline water in US retailers.

Emerging Supplement Brand: OneST

- OneST, founded in 2018, is gaining traction in the fitness supplements market with research-backed products like Hyperburn thermogenic powder. This product uses natural ingredients to support metabolism and energy, appealing to athletes amid the demand for transparent wellness options.

Emerging Supplement Brand: RYSE

- RYSE leads in sports nutrition with products like Loaded Pre-Workout and Loaded Protein featuring clinically dosed ingredients for enhanced performance, expanding rapidly through influencer collaborations in a competitive market.

Functional Beverages Market Trend

- The functional beverages sector, incorporating supplements like ashwagandha and magnesium for stress relief and brain health, is projected to reach $353.4 billion by 2030 at a 7.1% CAGR, driven by brands like Karma Water and investments from PepsiCo and Coca-Cola.

THE KUDOS CORNER 👏👏👏

Our Creative Design executive, Grace, just finished recording and starring in the final draft of our company elevator pitch. It took a lot of practice and collaboration with the scriptwriters, Vinanya and Macy, but turned out to be catchy, smooth, and engaging!

The Thrive Marketing team has done an amazing job getting the class excited about spreading the Thrive message. They have been combining social media trends with wellness to target the young adult market.

Birthday Shoutout 🎂

We have had many birthday celebrations in the last couple weeks including our Sales executive, Dima, and two of our Human Resources executives, Ryan and Munis. So we celebrated by getting them their go-to candy and a birthday crown!
